Re: Water Tank Half Full

When returning from a response all Tankers and Engines will either return to the station with a full tank of water or empty.

The purpose of this SOG is to reduce the chances of an accident when the tank is half full and there is more room for the water to move around. With this movement the truck is less stable, especially if we should get another response as you are returning to the station.

Your option is to either fill at site before leaving or empty the tank before leaving.
